ABOUT

António Bré is a 17-year-old designer and game developer working at the intersection of visual culture and interactive design. Based in Portugal, he is an upcoming student at ESMAD in Game Design & Digital Animation. He holds strong academic results — 16/20 in Systems & Programming and 18/20 on his final project — and approaches every project as a complete system: built to communicate clearly, engage effectively, and perform consistently over time.
